

THE PRETENDER

My face was smiling, my pride was immense when you said you saw no pretense
But you were wrong... please take no offense

The truth is that I AM a pretender
I can't play Gibson and can't play Fender
Oh I'm full of lies and full of pretense
I can feel music but can't really dance
I am a barbarian trying to look tender
A vegetarian and a criminal offender
I'm a brave fighter often ready to surrender
A rough big diamond without real splendor
I am a potential without real shape
I go straight forward then try to escape
I am confused and I am afraid
I'm a protest singer with butler and maid
I hate politics but respect the NAM
And have no idea who the fuck I am

Still, I was smiling, my pride was immense
'cause when I talk to you there is no pretense

When I talk to you there is no confusion and my gentle feelings are not an illusion
I have told you lies, trying to look better but in twenty lines it would be one letter
And it wouldn't touch words that really matter

Hope I'll send the truth from this helter-skelter

Your honest drug*
The Great Pretender

* Drug (droog) FRIEND, COMRADE

I am in love with a faraway girl
A girl outside the sight of a hawk
A girl on the other side of the world
But still I feel that we can talk

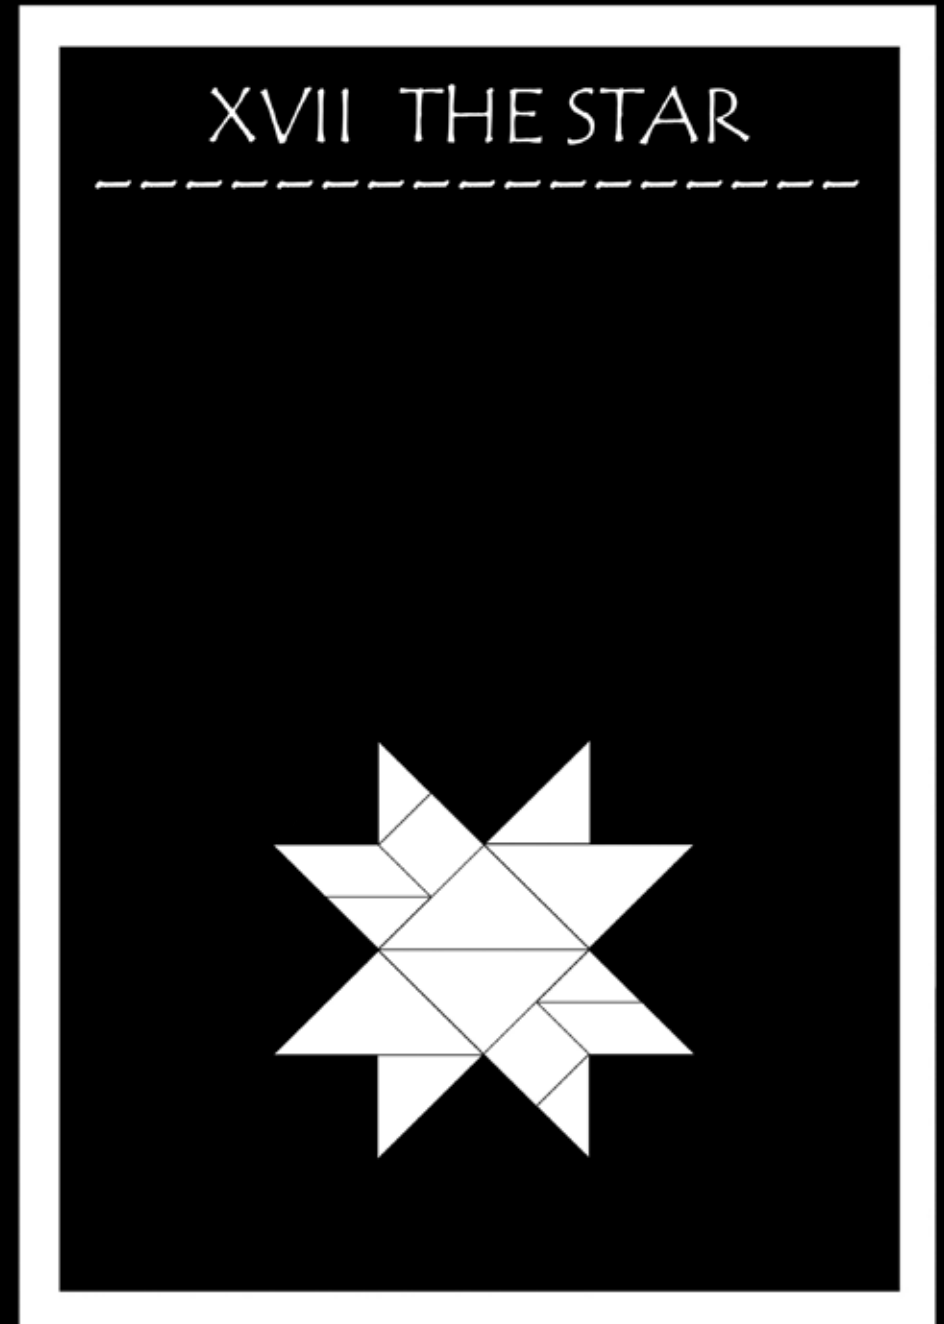

That we can talk across the oceans
That we can talk through the borders
Feel the thoughts and think the emotions
That we could be The Comrade Soldiers

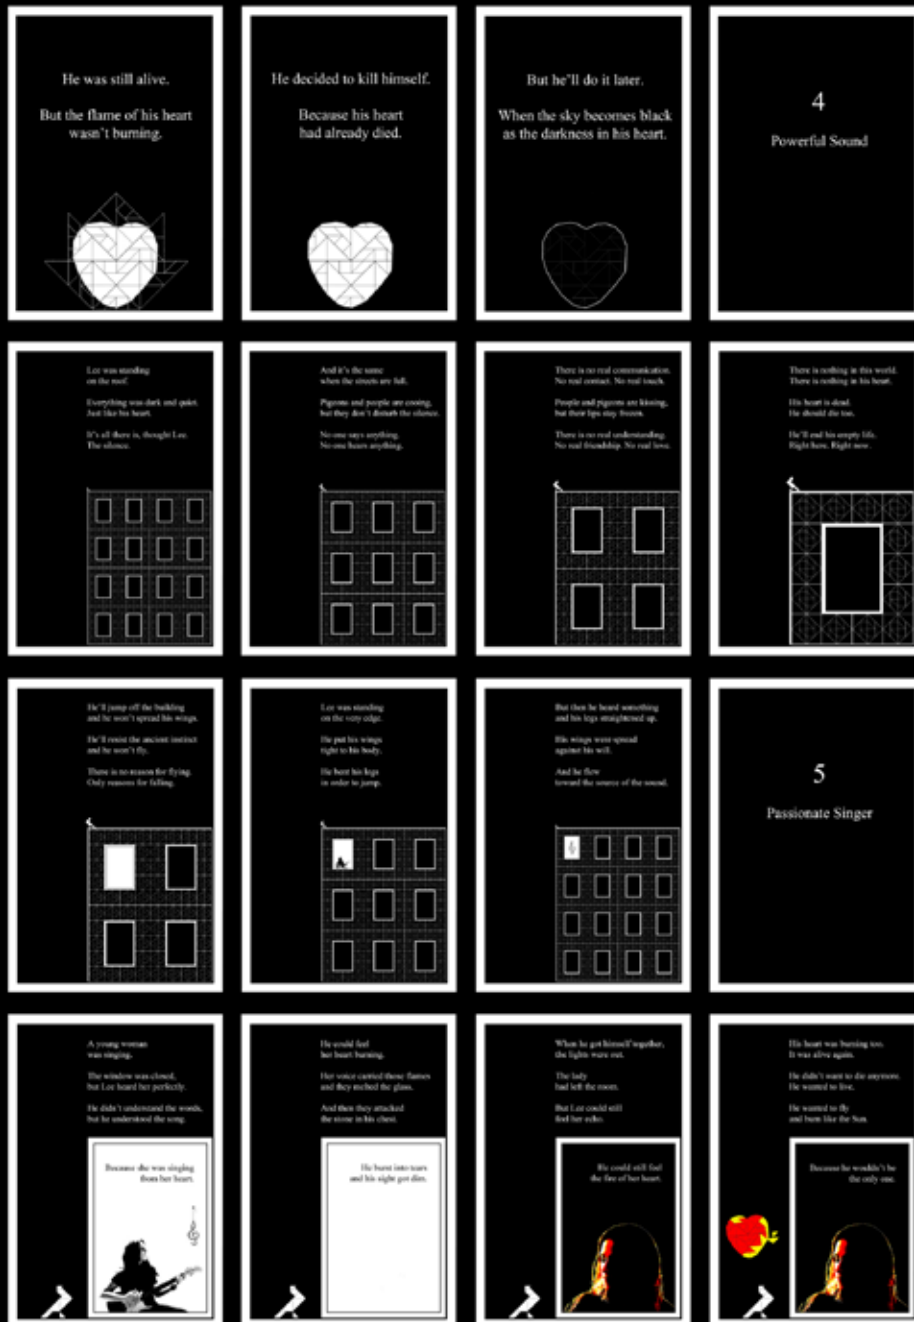

I am in love with a distant star
A star beyond reach of a rocket
I am in love with a light so far
That Solar System looks like a pocket

But I can still feel her flame
The flame behind the cold white light
I still can feel that we're the same
That our blinking destroys the night

I know my love has no tomorrow
I know she loves somebody else
But I can still feel no sorrow
I jump of joy 'cause we are friends

And I'll do my best, I'll do all I can
To really be the one she could trust
To be her Friend if not her Man
'Cause being Her Friend is all but 'just'

My heart is bleeding, but it's okay
'Cause wounds are clean and they form 'J'
'Cause wounds were touched by your hand
'Cause I'm in love with the great friend

My heart is bleeding, but it's not broken
It hurts but it's whole and it's awoken
It's easy to bleed when wounds are glowing It's great to love someone worth loving

I hope my wounds will never heal
I hope I'll always feel what I feel